

Conformal Measures for Transient Markov Shifts

In this talk we will explore the thermodynamic formalism of countable Markov shifts exhibiting transience. The main goal will be to construct a conformal measure for locally compact transient shifts using some insight from the theory of Martin boundaries for Markov chains; examples will be given where it is non-unique (corresponding to a “phase transition” for the system).